Chairperson, Fine Arts Commission:

This morning I noticed the letters SOVA had been removed from the wall at the entrance to our Office Director's Office. I learned it was at the insistence of the Fine Arts Commission. I hope you will reconsider and reverse this position. The letters reflected our pride in our office and in our work.

Although many of your efforts are commendable, I do not support this one which does not further art of any kind, but merely supports the continuation of long, bland, sterile, gray corridors. Surely a few clean bright letters on a wall cannot disturb the "decor" of this massive building. As a thirty-year veteran in the Directorate of Intelligence, I strongly resent this intrusion into SOVA's private space.
